A Word from the CEO

The reputation of Kirby Corporation and its subsidiaries is critical to our success. We have a longstanding reputation as the premier marine transportation company in the United States and a full service distributor of parts & equipment to the oil and gas industry, commercial and industrial companies as well as the leading manufacturer and remanufacturer of pressure pumping equipment. This reputation is built not only on the excellence of our service and safety record, but also on our high ethical standards and firm commitment to honesty, integrity and fair dealing. Kirby is committed to complying with all applicable laws, both in letter and in spirit and continuously improving our safety record.

Our Company has established certain values that were deemed essential to preserve the Kirby culture. Those core values are “THE KIRBY WAY” and are memorialized as follows:

David Grzebinski
CEO

---

Safety

Our guiding principle is No Harm to people, the environment or equipment. Safety is at the core of everything we do and always guides our decision making.

People

Our people make the difference. We invest in the tools and resources to empower our employees and we promote a workplace that values mutual respect, knowledge sharing and teamwork.

Integrity

Do the right thing by having the highest ethical standards while always being transparent and accountable for your actions.

Excellence

Creating value for our customers and shareholders by providing the highest quality service and products.

Community

Sharing our success with each other and the communities where we live and work by protecting the environment and encouraging volunteerism.

While our goals and priorities change over time, our Core Values remain the same. We share these values across our businesses worldwide.

Upholding legal standards of conduct, while mandatory for every employee, is not enough. We are also responsible for maintaining the ethical standards of these Guidelines. These standards govern how we treat and value all employees. These are standards of integrity... honesty... trust... respect... fair play... and teamwork. These are the standards we want Kirby to continue to uphold in the years to come. Your company believes that its behavior as a business should reflect the commitment to the values set forth in these "Business Ethics Guidelines".

While it is important that each of you read the Guidelines, I also would like to share a test that I apply when I am confronted with a difficult ethical situation. I call it "the Thanksgiving Test." If you can't comfortably explain your conduct or actions to your family and loved ones at the Thanksgiving dinner table, then you probably shouldn't be doing it.

The actions of a single employee can undo the reputation that Kirby has built over more than 130 years. Consequently, each of us must take responsibility to act in a safe, legal and ethical manner at all times.

Your actions every day help make us the safest, most respected company in the marine and distribution and services businesses.

Thank you for your commitment to Kirby, our Business Ethics Guidelines and to "Always Doing the Right Thing."

Purpose of the Guidelines

The purpose of these Business Ethics Guidelines (“Guidelines”) is to help you understand how Kirby Corporation, its divisions, subsidiaries and affiliates worldwide (individually and collectively, “Kirby” or the “Company”) is committed to doing business.

The Guidelines sets forth general guidelines of business practices, but does not endeavor to cover every law or policy that applies to each of us. It is intended to:

- Educate you about the laws that affect our business
- Serve as a guide to help you understand the type of behavior we expect from you
- Explain where to go for advice and to report possible misconduct

Who must follow the Guidelines?

All employees, officers, directors, contractor, third party and business partner acting in connection with or on behalf of Kirby and any other person or entity acting on behalf of Kirby (collectively referred to as “employees” in the Guidelines) must follow the Guidelines.

Obey the Law

Kirby employees are required to comply with all applicable laws and governmental regulations wherever we do business. The local laws of one country may affect how we do business in another country. It is important that you understand not only the local laws that apply to you in your home country, but also how you might be affected by the laws of other countries. If a law conflicts with a policy in the Guidelines, you must comply with the law; however, if a local custom or practice conflicts with this Guidelines, you must comply with the Guidelines. If you have any doubts, contact your supervisor or the Legal Department.

What is expected of me?

We expect you to lead by example.

As an employee, you are obligated to:

- Read, know and comply with these Guidelines

Duty to Report Violations

- If you observe any unethical or unlawful conduct or conduct that you believe creates a potential conflict of interest, you have a duty to report it.
- Promptly report any suspected violations of the Guidelines or the law to your supervisor or to any of the individuals identified throughout the Guidelines,

Remember, you should not fear retaliation for reporting suspected misconduct.

Kirby will not tolerate any retaliation against you for reporting a violation of law, rule, regulation or the Guidelines.

The law may also prohibit retaliation against employees who report a concern or complaint about unlawful conduct.

Your failure to bring violations to the attention of appropriate Company personnel could result in very serious harm to the Company.

Guidelines Questions and Concerns

This section of these Guidelines provides details to help you get answers and advice on the Guidelines and explains how to report any concerns.

Expectations of Compliance

We all have an individual responsibility to live up to the standards that are set forth in the Guidelines. Failure to adhere to the values and compliance standards may result in disciplinary action, which could include termination for serious offenses.

If you are not an employee, violations of the Guidelines can result in termination of your business arrangement with the Company, and you may be barred from our facilities.

Did You KNOW?

Your responsibilities to uphold these Guidelines extend to some off-duty circumstances as well. Conduct that occurs off-work may violate the Guidelines if the conduct is unlawful, could damage the Company's reputation, business interests or operations or could impact your qualification to do your job.

Questions and Concerns

---

You are encouraged to speak up if you suspect misconduct so we can investigate it.

See Section “Guidelines Questions and Concerns” for guidance on:

- Who to talk to about questions you may have about the Guidelines
- How to report a concern or a violation of the Guidelines or applicable law

Safety Policy

Safety

Our Goal: NO HARM to People, to the Environment or to Equipment

You and everyone you work with or supervise are responsible for adhering to our Safety Policy.

Safety Policy

The Company is committed to creating and maintaining a safe work environment. It is the responsibility of every employee, both ashore and afloat, every contractor and consultant to be familiar with and adhere to this safety policy:

ALL EMPLOYEES HAVE THE DUTY TO EXERCISE STOP WORK RESPONSIBILITY FOR THEIR SAFETY AND THE SAFETY OF THOSE AROUND THEM

- All injuries and accidents can be prevented. Our goal is zero injuries. This goal is considered realistic and attainable but only you can make it happen.
- Management will comply with all applicable federal, state and local requirements or appropriate industry standards.
- All levels of supervision have the responsibility for the safety of the employee.
- It is possible for you to guard against workplace conditions that may result in an occupational health risk, accident or injury. When the source of risk cannot be eliminated, special work processes, safety devices, personal protective equipment, or other protective measures must be used to safeguard employees.
- It is the responsibility of managers and supervisors to provide adequate training and supervision for employees. It is the responsibility of the employee to think, to use common sense and to work safely.
- Adherence to safety rules and safety instructions from supervisors is a requirement for employment.

All employees, contractors and consultants are required to follow our Safety Policy.

Equal Opportunity

Company Values - Equal Opportunity

The Company is an equal opportunity employer. Our goal is to provide a workplace free from offensive conduct including oral or written comments, postings on social media, email or while using Company electronic devices, in addition to conduct physical or suggestive in nature. Comments and conduct directed to or referencing an individual's color, race, age, ethnicity, national origin, gender, religion, or disability, even if innocently intended, do not further the Company's business and may, in fact, undermine the professional, respectful, and cooperative work environment that is a Company corporate value.

Open Door Policy.

Our Business Ethics Guidelines outline our commitment to stakeholders who have an interest in our activities or are affected by them. You may not take unfair advantage of anyone through manipulation, concealment, abuse of privileged information, misrepresentation of material facts or any other unfair dealing practice.

Remember the following when you deal with others:

- You must be truthful in your representation of the Company. If there is a mistake or misunderstanding, you must correct it immediately.

- You must strive to select suppliers who provide the highest quality at the lowest total cost. Prospective suppliers should have a chance to compete fairly for our business, just as we wish to compete fairly for our customers' business.

Fair Competition (cont'd)

Unfair methods of competition and unfair or deceptive acts and practices will not be tolerated and many jurisdictions have laws designed to protect customers and competitors. While it is impossible to list all types of prohibited conduct under these laws,

- Discounts
- Terms and conditions of sales

If you become aware of any formal or informal discussion of the topics in the lists above, then you should immediately report your concerns to the Legal Department.

Conflicts of Interest

Conflicts of interest can happen when your personal interests or activities (or those of a member of your family) interfere with, or even appear to interfere with, those of the Company or its subsidiaries. This includes when you are in position to influence a transaction or decision in such a way that it will, or might appear to, benefit you or your family member.

Personal interests and activities should not influence decisions made on the Company's behalf

Conflicts of interest are prohibited. To protect the best interests of the Company, any potential conflict of interest must be discussed with the Human Resources Department so that it can be resolved in an ethical manner. Potential conflicts involving Executive Officers or members of the Company's Board of Directors must be reviewed by the Company's Governance Committee.

If you are involved in the transfer of goods or services across national borders on behalf of the Company or our customers, you should:

- Be familiar and comply with these laws, regardless of your location.
- Maintain accurate information on the commodity, commercial value and country of origin of imported goods.

Cooperate Fully and Honestly in Investigations

There may be occasions when the Company may be the subject of an outside investigation by law enforcement or other government agencies with oversight of the Company's operations in your geography. During the course of these investigations, officials may need to access and review Company documents, e-mails or other written materials.

If you are questioned by a Company or external official in an investigation, you must be truthful and forthcoming. Destruction or falsification of any document that is potentially relevant to a violation of law, a government investigation or a legal proceeding may lead to prosecution for obstruction of justice.

Business Travel

The Company requires employees to use good judgment in incurring expenses. Personal or excessive use of an expense account without permission could subject you to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

The employee and the person authorizing the expense report is responsible for the propriety of the contents.

Necessary and reasonable expenses are allowable when properly described and documented with legible explanations. Tax regulations require that each expenditure be supported by an explanation of the business purpose of the expenditure.

Exceptions to the policy will be reviewed with the employee and his/her supervisor and/or department head and may require:

- Further explanation or substantiation for questionable expenses.

Gifts and Entertainment

*You should not accept gifts, meals or entertainment that may influence, or may give the appearance of influencing, your ability to make decisions in the best interest of the Company. You should avoid a pattern of accepting frequent gifts or business courtesies from the same persons or companies as it may give the appearance of impropriety or preferential treatment.

In the context of giving or receiving gifts, meals or entertainment, the following are examples of activities that are generally permissible, provided they are bona fide, business-related and freely offered:

These laws also require all books, records and accounts of the Company, domestic and foreign, to accurately and fairly reflect business transactions and dispositions of Company assets.

Applicable Policies and Helpful Information

Anti-Corruption

The United States Foreign Corrupt Practices Act of 1977 (and amendments) (FCPA) prohibits the Company and its shareholders, agents, officers and employees from making or authorizing payment of money or anything of value, directly or indirectly, to non-United States government officials, political parties or candidates for political office outside the United States to win or retain business or influence any act or decision of such officials.

The FCPA prohibits offering or promising to make a gift or any other payment to any non-U.S. government official, (including employees or agents of government bureaus or departments, or state-owned or controlled companies), or to any political party (or employee or representative thereof) or political candidate outside the United States for the purpose of obtaining or retaining business or obtaining any unfair advantage. The FCPA also requires publicly traded US companies like the Company to make and keep accurate books and records, and effective internal accounting controls.

This U.S. law applies throughout the world to actions by the Company, all Company personnel and representatives, and all Kirby subsidiaries, affiliates, and joint ventures. The FCPA imposes severe criminal and civil penalties against both the individual involved and his or her employer.

The United Kingdom Bribery Act (UK Bribery Act) and other local Anti-bribery laws prohibit similar payments to any person or corporation, not just to non-United States government officials. Facilitating payments seeking to ensure approval of business activities or transactions are also prohibited under Anti-Bribery laws.

Because of the broad coverage and severe penalty provisions of the FCPA and UK Bribery Act, it is imperative that you immediately report to the Company's Chief Financial Officer and Vice President and General Counsel, any transaction that appears to violate Anti-Corruption laws.

Books and Records

These laws also require all books, records and accounts of the Company, domestic and foreign, to accurately and fairly reflect business transactions and dispositions of Company assets.

Third Party Representatives, Distributors, Agents and Consultants

The Company will not authorize any distributor, agent, or consultant to do any act that is prohibited by these Business Ethics Guidelines or the Company's Anti-Corruption Compliance Policy and Procedures.

Third Party Representatives must be adequately screened and approved before they are permitted to act on the Company's behalf.

If there is a conflict between this summary and the Policy, the language in the Policy applies.

Outside Board Service

*To avoid conflicts of interest, prior to accepting a position on a public company Board of Directors, all employees are required to obtain approval from Kirby's Chief Executive Officer and Board of Directors. # Financial Records, Accounting and Internal Controls

Any dishonest reporting of information to organizations or people outside the Company is also strictly prohibited and could lead to civil or even criminal liability for you and the Company. This includes not only reporting information inaccurately, but also organizing it in a way that is intended to mislead or misinform those who receive it.

Our financial and accounting records and supporting information must be maintained properly to comply with legal requirements and our internal controls. All individuals who are responsible for recording or reporting this information shall do so promptly, accurately, completely and honestly.

- Directly or indirectly falsifying or causing others to falsify any Company or client documentation

Submitting an expense account for meals not eaten, miles not driven, airline tickets not used or for any other expense not incurred is against the law and against Company policies.

Anti-Money Laundering

Kirby complies with all laws that prohibit money laundering or financing for illegal or illegitimate purposes. “Money laundering” is the process by which persons or groups try to conceal the proceeds of illegal activities or try to make the source of their illegal funds look legitimate.

You should always ensure that you are conducting business with reputable customers, for legitimate business purposes, with legitimate funds. Check for “red flags” such as requests from a potential customer or supplier for cash payments or other unusual payment terms.

If you suspect money laundering activities, you need to report your concerns immediately.

Securities Law and Insider Trading

Securities laws and Company policy prohibit the buying or selling of securities while in the possession of “material, non-public information.”

Material, non-public information is information that:

- Has not been released to the public, and
- A reasonable investor would consider important in deciding whether to buy, sell or hold securities

Examples of material, non-public information include:

- Acquisitions and divestitures
- Changes in key management
- Changes to significant contracts or customers
- Financial earnings figures and trends
- Important information on litigation, contracts or joint ventures

Material, non-public information does not have to relate to the Company's business. For example, it could include information about the contents of a forthcoming story in the financial press that is expected to affect the market price of a security, or information about a transaction.

It is against the law for you to:

Buy or sell securities while in the possession of material, non-public information

Disclose material, non-public information to any unauthorized recipient (including relatives, friends or business associates), regardless of the purpose for which the disclosure is made

Have anyone else purchase or sell securities on your behalf, or for their own benefit, based on material non-public information. Any such purchases or sales made by another person, or on their behalf, could be attributable to you and are illegal

For any questions on whether certain information fits the definition of material, non-public information, please consult with your supervisor or the Legal Department.

Records and Document Retention

Destruction or falsification of any document that is potentially relevant to a violation of law, a government investigation or legal proceeding may lead to prosecution for obstruction of justice.

All entries in the Company's books, records, and accounts and all documents created must be accurate, complete, and fairly reflect our business transactions. The recording of all financial transactions must conform with generally accepted accounting practices. False or misleading data supplied in connection with any aspect of the Company's business, whether for internal Company purposes or external use by a supplier, customer or the government, is not tolerated.

If you have been notified that you should retain documents, or if you believe that a violation of the law has been committed or that a Company or government investigation is underway or is about to commence, then you must retain all records (including documents, computer records and other files) that could be relevant to an investigation of the matter.

We keep documents and records in forms that enable efficient retrieval. All Company records will be kept for the shortest time needed to comply with applicable laws, regulations, policies and the Company's records and documents retention program. We keep documents and records that describe our business activities for enough time to ensure that we have fulfilled our obligations and promises.

Documents and records include any medium, regardless of physical format, which memorializes information created or used by the Company. (i.e., paper documents, audio or video tapes, magnetic or optical media, microfilm or microfiche, voice mail and computer-based information such as electronic mail, computer files on disk, servers or tape, and any other medium) Employees are prohibited from tampering with these documents or removing or destroying them prior to the dates specified in our retention program.

Copyright Protection and Use Policy

Copyright is a type of intellectual property that protects original works of authorship. Under the US Copyright Act, copyright arises automatically when an author creates an expressive work if the work is both original and fixed form. Examples of fixed forms include, written materials, newsletters, publications, website content, computer software programs, photographs, artwork, songs. Copyright does not protect ideas, systems, methods of operation, titles, general layouts, formats, common symbols and designs.

A copyright provides its owner with a bundle of exclusive rights in a protected work. The primary exclusive rights are as follows:

- Reproduction (making copies of a work).
- Distribution (transferring ownership of a copy of a work, or transferring custody, but not ownership, of a tangible copy, for example, through rental or lending).
- Public performance.
- Public display (showing a copy of a work in a place open to the public or where a substantial number of people other than family members and acquaintances are gathered).
- Derivative works (making adaptations of a work, for example, translations, art reproductions, or a motion picture based on a book).

Protecting Kirby's Copyrights

Kirby employees must protect Kirby Corporation copyrights and the value of these assets from infringement by others.

In general, works created by Kirby employees in the scope of their employment are owned exclusively by Kirby as works made for hire under the US Copyright Act. Materials created by third-party independent contractors for Kirby may, in some cases, also be works made for hire. Contact the Legal Department prior to engaging any third-party independent contractors to confirm and secure copyright ownership in contractor work product.

Proper Use of Third-Party Copyrights

Employees may need to use third-party copyrighted works in their work for Kirby, including, for example, software, photographs, images, professional publications, journals, reports or published data.

It is against Kirby policy for any employee to copy, scan, digitize, distribute, broadcast, perform, excerpt, modify, translate, distribute, transfer or otherwise use any third-party copyrighted works, whether for personal use, internal or external Kirby use, or use by others, in violation of copyright laws.

Use of third-party copyrighted works generally requires permission or a license. If a work was created by a third-party contractor, confirm the terms of the written agreement. If there are questions or if the contractor has entered into a written agreement, contact the Legal Department.

Providing information regarding the source, author, or owner of a work does not eliminate the need to obtain permission or a license for use of the work. If there are any questions regarding the permissibility of using third-party copyrighted works, please contact the Legal Department for additional guidance.

Kirby also respects the copyrights of others. Improper use of copyrighted materials by Kirby employees could expose the employees and Kirby to substantial civil and criminal penalties.

All employees are required to comply with federal copyright law and this policy.
